GENESIS '82

TRINITY COLLEGE
DUNEDIN, FLORIDA

Dear Students:

In the providence of the Lord you have come our way. We are so glad you did. Our Lord makes no mistakes. It has been said, "Our Lord is too wise to make a mistake and too good to do wrong."

The great concern of each life should be to be in the heart center of his will. This is the place of victory, yet often the place of conflict. Patience is needed because often He leads a step at a time. He gives enough light for the present so be not discouraged if you cannot see into the distance. You will tread no path, if in His will, but what He has gone before and prepared the way.

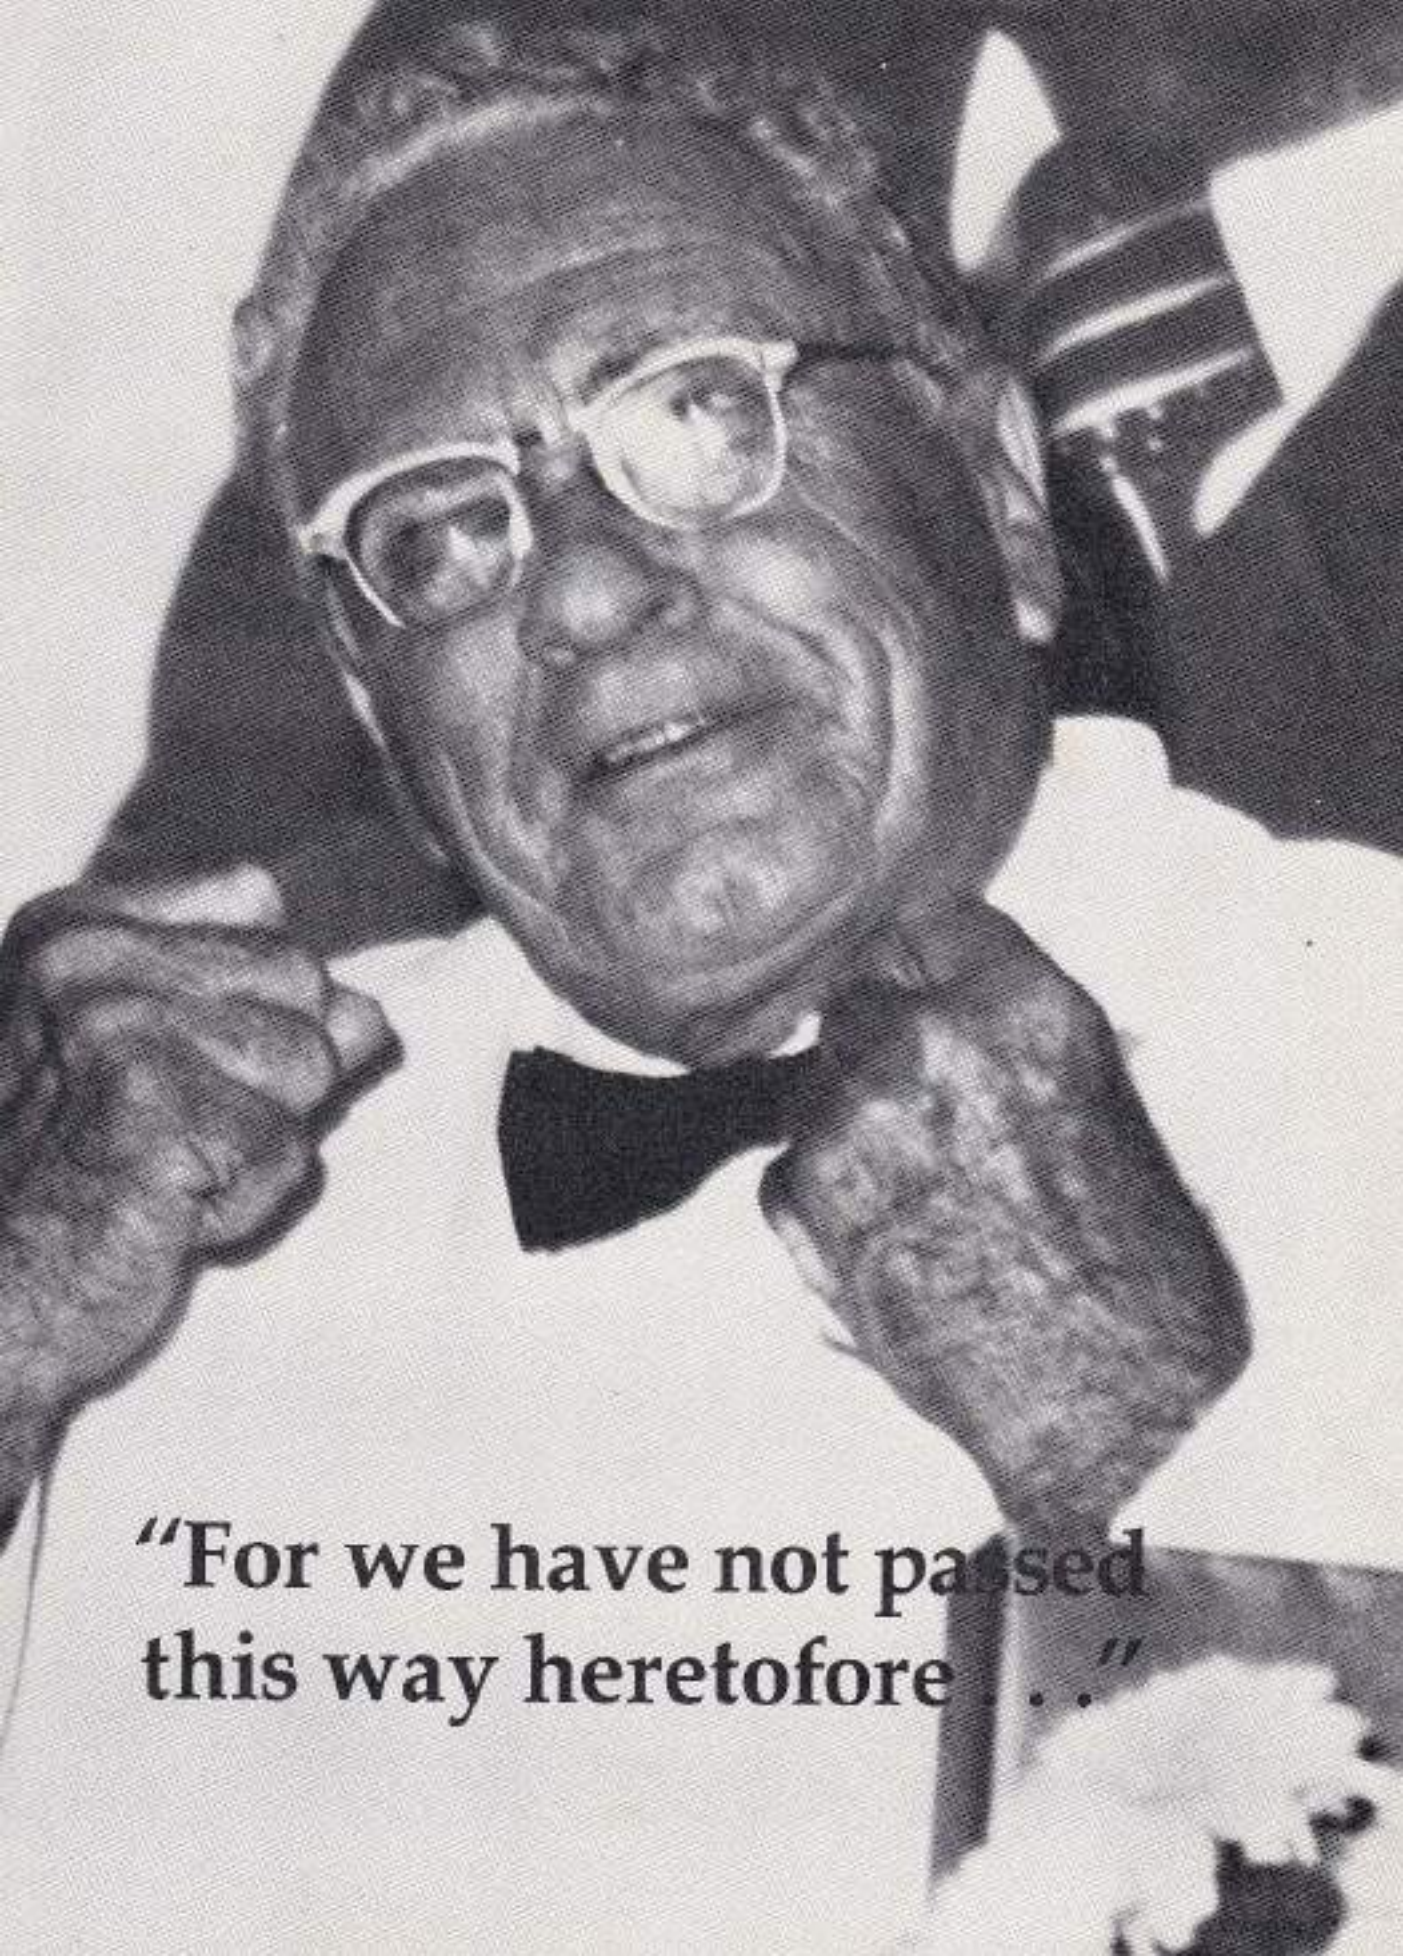

There is no substitute for His presence. This will lighten every load and make the world brighter. Keep looking to Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith. Since you have but one life and can live it but one way, live it well. This is the only world in which you can win souls to Christ. Yours is the greatest of all callings.

Wherever you go you will always be an important part of Trinity College. Let us meet often at the Throne of Grace. God bless you! Our Faculty, Board, and Administrative Staff join me in expressing our love and greetings to each of you.

Yours for Youth,

John R. Corts
President

"For we have not passed this way heretofore ..."

Dr. Watson, we love you;
We miss you a lot too,
But we are carrying on the load you left behind,
Training to take the Gospel to the poor, broken, and blind.

We have admired you through the years,
But now you're gone and we're fighting back the tears,
Because there are many lives you did touch,
And through you, God has blessed us much.

We take time to think, and we find
That you are still on our hearts and minds.
Our hearts are saddened because you are no longer here,
But to us you make Heaven much more dear.

We long to see you again soon.
I bet you're singing "He's Able," your favorite tune,
And I know you're holding up fingers of three
And saying, "Come and See."

“For even though I am absent in body nevertheless, I am with you in spirit, rejoicing to see your good discipline and the stability of your faith in Christ.”

Colossians 2:5

WELCOME TO OUR FAMILY

For fifty years Trinity has been welcoming people into its family. Leaving the security of relatives and friends to enter the discipline of a college environment can be a traumatic experience for many young people. But when a new student arrives at Trinity, he is immediately welcomed, and finds friends who are always willing to help. He finds that going to college includes more than gaining intellectual knowledge; it is an opportunity to develop deep, interpersonal relationships. Because of the warm, spiritual atmosphere at Trinity, these relationships are easily nurtured until students and faculty alike become one family. Just like all families, we experience times of discord and grief, but these times are used by our Lord Jesus Christ to strengthen us through changes and growth. Through the power of Christ we learn to reach out to one another and the world around us.

TRINITY IS ... A FAMILY THAT PLAYS TOGETHER

Even the faculty and staff got involved in the fun at Trinity. The Class of '82 will not soon forget Barry Banther's famous belly-flop dive in a tuxedo which shrank as he sank, or Lester Harris' infamous bird chirping while choking in the Annual Talent Show Contest. Whether it was a pie in the face or a bit of unrehearsed slapstick comedy, Trinity's humor was always creative and refreshing.

This year marked the beginning of a Student Activity Council which organized recreation for weekends. Movies, swimming, football, basketball, and a monthly candlelight dinner were all activities planned and sponsored by this council.

Family fun and a sense of good sportsmanship proved once again that a "merry heart doeth good like a medicine."

A FAMILY THAT STUDIES TOGETHER

Burning the midnight oil, frantically running to and from classes, whispering in the library, breaking fingernails on typewriter keys, and nursing headaches were all symptoms of serious studying this year. But it was worth it as students explored the world of theological knowledge and discovered the works of C. S. Lewis, F. E. Marsh, Lewis Chafer, Charles Sheldon and many more. Freshmen learned how to use commentaries, lexicons and concordances while enjoying general survey subjects. Upperclassmen delved into exegetical word studies, carried on the tradition of late night talk sessions, debated many theological issues, and learned to respect the views of one another without seeing eye to eye.

Studying together brought closer friendships and stronger student/faculty relationships.

TRINITY IS . . . A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER

Preaching, praying, praising, and precious moments of laughter combined to form Trinity's unique family worship experience. Chapel speakers from Operation Mobilization, African Inland Mission, World Missions, and other organizations stressed commitment to the unreached third world.

Prospective student preachers looked forward to taking notes from such experienced church pastors as Andrew Telford, Mark Cortis, Redd Harper, and many more.

Concerned prayer for the new administration and meditative moments for personal problems and alumni needs brought strength for the hard times, and rejoicing for answered needs.

Top, left to right: The Trinity College Choir sings in chapel. Les Harris leads out in a Chapel service. Jamie Hummel, Miss Alder, and Mark Castle pray before evening studies in the Library. Bottom, left to right: A student takes advantage of a time to study the Scripture. Jeff Carroll and Craig Batson share in prayer together.

Chapel music formed a special part of worship through praise, highlighted by the inspirational music of Sandra Weibe, the Trinity College Choir, Dr. J. R. MacMurray, the Suddards, and other local groups.

In less serious moments, students enjoyed the light-hearted stories of Les Harris, the never-ending humor of "Dr. Mac," and the refreshing puns of Chuck Davis.

SCHOOL DAZE . . .

Oh, that awful sound! Am I dreaming or is that really my alarm? I roll over to find that it is 6:00 a.m. Just when I decide that my clock is wrong, I hear a "pound, pound, pound" on my door accompanied by a "Good morning" from the sleepy-voiced monitor. Some students prefer to sleep-in till 8:00, having spent a sleepless night pursuing the art of late night cramming.

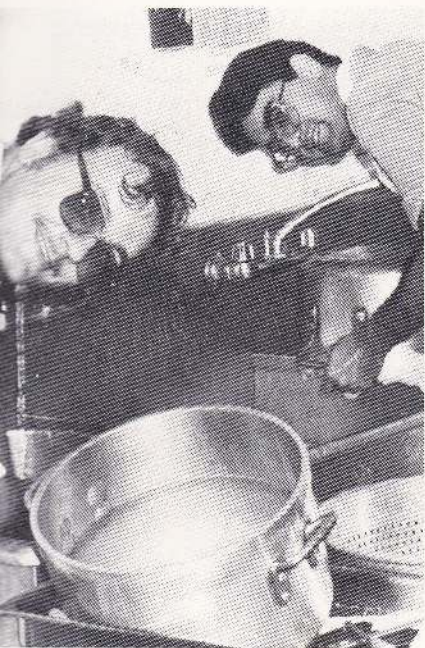

After spending a quiet time alone with the Lord, I stumble down three flights of stairs and wonder why I ever volunteered to set tables for breakfast.

Above: Ken Cummings explains senior class project to Mrs. Harris.
Right: Cheryl Quick, Rick Hull, and Desi Campbell demonstrate "Father Abraham" for Youth Evangelism class.

Middle: Craig Batson leads the way after chapel.
Bottom: Dr. Bragg, "And I like that word 'rank'."

My classes continue after break. Many classes begin with a song and all begin with prayer. Sometimes while singing we all go flat because the teacher can't stay on pitch. However, the fellowship is good and because the classes are small, I enjoy good rapport with my teachers. We care and pray for each other as individuals, not numbers. I learn and enjoy the detailed Bible studies as well as the practical applications of Biblical truths. At last the bell rings. It is now 12:45, and I rush to the dining room to enjoy lunch with my friends.

I make it to my first hour class just as the 8:00 bell rings. I am totally dazed and bewildered by my teacher who is a "Fountain of knowledge." As I furiously try to record the flow of the lecture my hand starts feeling cramped. I turn to look at the clock and . . . ah, saved by the bell! I head for chapel to find a comfortable seat in which to relax. I meditate on the music and on the message of a challenging speaker. After chapel I make my way to the snack bar for food and fellowship.

As I leave the dining room I realize I'm free to do what I like (within reason) until 5:00. Some students work in day care centers, private homes, or churches, while others sleep. I suppose I'll practice the piano, study, or go shopping . . . or maybe I'll do all three. At 5:30 I'm ready to fill that void and calm that rumble in my stomach. Oh, what a relief! Now I can comfortably spend time with my friends.

Middle: Jeff Carroll and company liven up the snack bar with music.

Bottom: Glenn Erskine, Richard Miles and Rebecca Lowell prove that they can stay awake in class.

SCHOOL DAZE

Time sure does fly when you're having fun. Oops! It's 7:00 already, time for the more mundane things in life — it's study time. For two hours I diligently study my notes and the Word of God.

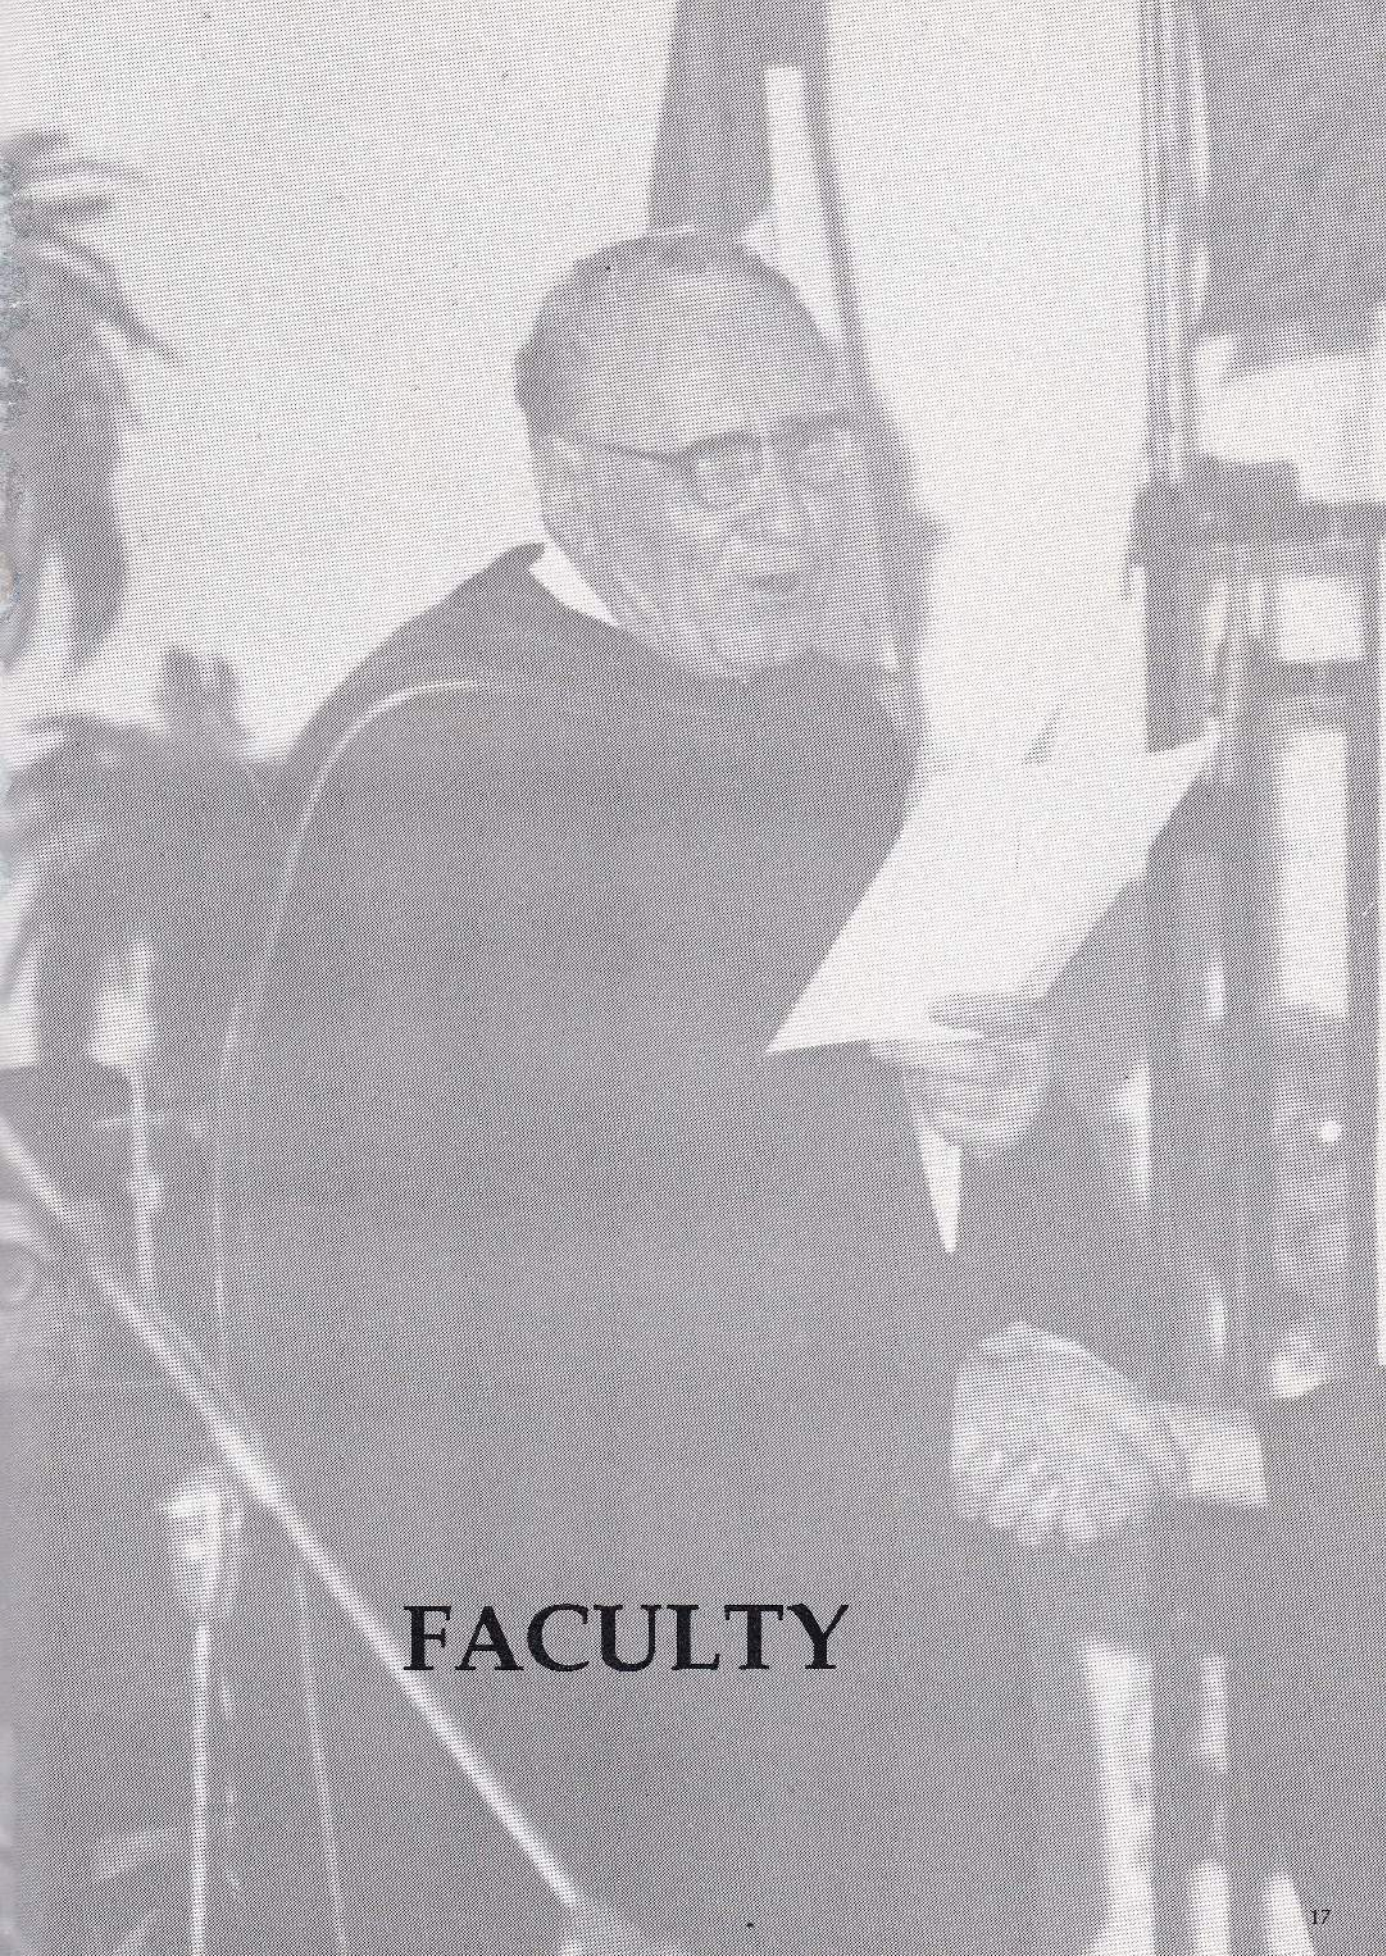

Hark, do I hear thunder? No, it must be 9:00, the girls are running down the stairs to meet their boyfriends and have a time of devotions until 9:40, when "parting is such sweet sorrow." I'm back in the dorm at 9:45, about to revive myself with a shower, but first I've got to see what's happening at the other end of the dorm. At 10:15 the monitor bellows "Quiet time! Everyone in your own room."

I obediently go to my room and spend an hour meditating (at least I'm supposed to). Then I study, type, write, and cram for tomorrow. I try to find a little time to sleep before morning.

You wonder why I am in a daze? I smile through it all, and learn more than my teachers think I do. God loves me, and though I am uncut, someday I'll be a polished diamond for His glory. This is one way He's shaping my life; through discipline and growth in the study of the Word of God at Trinity College.

W. T. Watson Rose Garden

This year as a class project the class of '82 erected a flagpole in the rose garden, located at the front of the main building. This flagpole was erected in loving memory of our founder, president, and friend; Dr. W. T. Watson. It is only a small token of our appreciation to the man who made Trinity College possible.

TRINITY NIGHT SCHOOL

E.T.T.A.

This year in conjunction with the Evangelical Teacher Training Association, Trinity College commenced a two year program of study leading to the Advanced Teacher's Certificate. The Trinity Night School was held on the main campus of the college and offered a balanced curriculum for teacher training and lay leadership in the local church.

NIGHT SCHOOL (con't.)

The Continuing Education Department of Trinity College also offered various Bible courses at area churches. These classes were taught by qualified Trinity graduates and professors. It is the purpose of all the night classes of Trinity College to help the lay leadership of our churches better understand the Word of God.

MINISTRIES

G.C.M.F.

The world's need for Jesus Christ was the concern of the Great Commission Missionary Fellowship as they met together three times a week to pray for the fields "white unto harvest." Besides praying, this fellowship wrote letters to lonely missionaries, raised money for special mission projects, encouraged students to attend mission conferences (including Global Outreach '81), and challenged the student body through the ministry of such stirring movies as Peace Child and Mountain of Light. Trips to the International House in St. Pete afforded interested students the opportunity to meet and share Christ with young people from other countries.

Through the work of GCMF, many were burdened with a concern for special countries, and the entire student body was encouraged to pray for the needs of the world.

G.C.M.F. PRAYER BANDS

In 1961, as a young freshman student, Lester Harris founded the Great Commission Missionary Fellowship. With a desire to learn of the work of missions in the world, came the idea of a group to contact and keep in touch with foreign missions activities. Because of a God-given love for souls across the seas and in heathen darkness the world over, these students began to gather and to consider a program by which they could learn more about missions and to follow missionaries for whom they could pray in a more specific way. The group also had the desire of gathering information for the school as a whole, that a greater emphasis would be put on missions.

Everybody Sing Praise To The Lord

This year's choir, directed by Mary Ann Harris, consisted of 30 members, representing 5 countries and 12 states. The choir traveled throughout Florida, visiting churches, nursing homes, trailer parks, malls, and banquet halls. Many people were blessed by their singing, testimonies, and solos. The name of Christ was uplifted through their joyful praises. Members especially enjoyed the extra fellowship of pizza bashes and choir retreats.

THEY MAKE A JOYFUL NOISE!

Top; Women's Trio: Saralyn Bragg, Sherry Sapp, and Kay Bovaird.

Middle: One of several soloists, Allison Dugan.

Right; The Gideon Band: Bill Watson, Leah Everett, Ruth Dooknie, Jeff Carroll.

Musical creativity with a personal touch was characteristic of the type of sound produced by small group ensembles and soloists. Some of these groups worked and traveled with revival teams. Others sang and played instruments whenever and wherever needed.

Top, Mixed Ensemble: Back — Glen Erskin, Abraham Ku; Middle — Ed Lowell, Rebecca Lowell, Richard Miles; Front — Kay Bovaard, Linda Walker, Martha Lowell, Ruth Dooknie.

Right: Representing Countryside Manor, Camp Awhile and Camp a Campsite — Abraham Ku, Laurice Jennings, Bill Hall, and Shirley Gabbord.

Far right: Linda Walker plays at Linger Longer.

Bible school involves more than just studying. Because Trinity believes evangelism and discipleship are an integral part of a Christian education, students are required to maintain practical extension work.

TRAILER PARKS . . . OPPORTUNITIES FOR EXPERIENCE

Over the years, trailer park ministries to senior citizens have played a major role in shaping aspiring, first-time preachers. Before this appreciative audience, many a nervous piano player has learned to successfully fumble through accompaniment, while song leaders learn the hard way that it takes more than just a wave of the hand to get people to sing.

Above: Representing Shangri-la, Longer Longer and Kapok: Ken Cummings, Glen Erskine, Clarence Maxfield, Lloyd Latham, Linda Walker.

Say it with PUPPETS

Behind the rich, velvet curtains of the Trinity Puppet Company was an humorous cast of crew members who enjoyed stepping on one another's toes while waving hefty puppets in the air. Good puppetry was hard work but paid off as the team ministered to Christian schools, nursing homes, malls and churches.

Middle: Puppet team — Cindy Pankuch, Jamie Hummel, Mac Nevers, Cheryl Quick, Kim Davis.

Right: Ventriloquists, Wendy Erskine and Vicki Stone.

SPECIAL MINISTRIES TEAM

A knack for story-telling, chalk drawing, reading poetry, singing or ventriloquism — all of these were effective mediums used by students to present the Gospel of Christ to audiences in a new and fresh manner.

Top, Special Ministries Team: Sherry Sapp, Ruth Dooknie, Wendy Erskine, Howard Blayney, Kay Bovaird, Martha Lowell, Mary Gray, Saralyn Bragg, Allison Dugan.

Other extension work ministries included working in rescue missions, nursing homes, prisons, and with Open Air Evangelism on the beach. During the summer, many continued fruitful outreach in home churches, camps, teaching on the mission field, or traveling in evangelistic teams.

Top: Beach ministry: James Henson, Wendy Erskine, Mike Pangburn, Vicki Pangburn, Ken Winters, Karen Edscorn.

Bottom, Bus workers: Kim Davis, Mike Chandler, Missy Morris.

Children's Ministry

Someone has said, "Win a child — win a life." By reaching today's child, we have reached tomorrow's adult. Armed with this philosophy, faithful, hard-working Trinity students worked tenderly with inner city and local church children, reaching many for Christ.

Every Saturday afternoon, campus athletes competed in the Trinity Flag Football League until it culminated in an exciting Turkey Bowl. Whether students came to cheer, watch the ref turn red, or see the flag girls trip, they all agreed the fellowship was great.

CATS SCRATCH THEIR WAY TO THE TOP – WIN TITLE

Although the teams did not play pro-football and sported strange names printed on gawdy T-shirts, they were heartily cheered by enthusiastic fans. The Alley Cats captured the first place trophy while the Jive Jukas received the sportsmanship award.

Jive Jukas; Tom Schoen; Glen Erskine; John Iorio; Craig Batson; Leo Duarte; Rick Hull; Rodney McNary. Referees: Barry Banther, Marie Pietrowski, Bill Watson and Rebecca Lowell. Mark Castle poses a powerful blocking position against Reggie Hall.

Female sports enthusiasts were encouraged to participate in intramural softball games supervised by Barry Banther. On a local baseball field, more than one girl batted in a homerun. The faculty was no match for this superstar team composed of half the girls' dorm.

Competition was fierce in the first Annual Water Games as students competed in categories of diving, free style, breaststroke, splashing and whale racing (for 200 pounds and over). Trophies and medals were awarded to winners of the event, after judges carefully compared notes. Spectators were a bit wet from sideline splashing but quickly dried off while celebrating with hamburgers and hotdogs following the competition.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

To make student life enjoyable as well as profitable, a new Student Activities Committee was formed. Under the direction of Barry Banther and officers Martha Lowell, Kim Davis, and Mike Pangburn, this committee successfully organized parties, music concerts, sporting events, movies, and good times of fellowship.

On Halloween Day, following an exciting afternoon game on the football field, students enjoyed watching or participating in unique games found in various booths. After students had a good time of singing and displaying talent, the evening was topped off with the showing of the Emmy award winning animation of The Lion, The Witch, And The Wardrobe by C. S. Lewis.

Christmas

If you had stepped into the Fenway Lobby around Christmas time, you would have seen the cheer of Christmas past in the lovely antique furniture, and felt the warmth of Christmas present from the faces of the students as they traditionally decorated the lobby. Trees, lights, garlands of green, silver and other beautiful ornaments captured the holiday spirit. Song and laughter filled the room as Christmas carols played and students spread holiday garb in unique places. Students from up north realized that a green Christmas in Florida was as much fun as a white Christmas. Well — almost as much fun . . .

To celebrate the beginning of second semester, students enjoyed a New Year's party on January 6. It was a time to renew friendships, share vacation experiences, give testimonies, spend time in prayer and reflect over the past year. The New Year was "officially" welcomed at 12:00 a.m. with plenty of singing and merriment. Streamers, balloon popping, noise makers, and happy greetings gave 1982 a special introduction.

At the beginning of every new year comes a new semester and the commencement of the Fenway Bible Conference. Men and women, referred to as the "guests" of Trinity College, came from all over the United States and Canada to become spiritually enriched under the ministries of various well known pastors and conference speakers such as: Dr. Philip R. Newell, Dr. Vance Havner, Dr. Andrew Telford, Ted Cornell, Ken Carter, Dr. S. Franklin Logsdon, Dr. Mark Cortis, Rev. Bud Winstead, Dr. Don Hillis, Dr. Art Yohner, Dr. Al Larson, Mr. Redd Harper, Dr. Roy Gustafson, Dr. Ivor Powell.

Conference Fellowship

Many of the guests take up residence in the Fenway during the conference season. This offers the student body an opportunity to gain friendship as well as sound advice from those further along in the Christian walk.

The students are also privileged to be lifted up in prayer by many of the guests with regard to studies and service. This unique situation has made possible blessings that could not be gained any other way.

DR. W. T. WATSON, 1901-1981

William T. Watson was born in Lumberton, North Carolina on May 21, 1901. His father was a farmer and his mother a housewife. He was obliged during his high school years to help work on the farm and when not working on the farm was a clerk in a grocery store. His conversion at fourteen was simple but complete. The night he accepted the Lord as his Saviour, he was so excited that he forgot he had peddled his bicycle to the tent meeting and had to return to retrieve it. From this point on, William T. Watson proved that faith and hard work were inseparable. At the age of sixteen, he entered Toccoa Falls Institute and spent four years studying the Bible, supporting himself by working at many jobs. He worked on a dairy farm, drove a team of oxen, and was often a part time cook. In the fall of 1921, he entered Nyack College and graduated in 1922. Here, also, he worked his way through school.

In 1921, when Lucy Roberts enrolled at Toccoa Falls, she and William became close friends. Within a short time, their friendship blossomed into love. On June 18, 1924, Dr. Watson and Lucy were married in Greensboro, North Carolina. She was to be the strongest source of encouragement and help in Dr. Watson's life. They were later blessed with one son, Robert, and three grandchildren.

After graduating from Nyack, Dr. Watson traveled south to Florida with Dr. John Minder, lifelong friend. Together, the two formed an evangelistic team but later parted paths. In 1924, Dr. Watson felt led to organize a church in St. Petersburg while his friend chose Tampa for his pastorate. God blessed the preaching of young Watson until by the end of 1924, when he was only 23, his ever growing congregation moved from a tent full of holes into a huge 4,000 seat Gospel Tabernacle. World famous preachers and evangelists were guests of this large church: Gypsy Smith, Billy Sunday and more.

TRINITY BEGINS — 1932

As Dr. Watson pastored in the St. Petersburg Gospel Tabernacle, he had a vision of a Bible College and a Bible conference combined — allowing students to be exposed to teachers and preachers that otherwise would not be available. Vision became reality in September, 1932 as the spacious Temple Terrace Country Club was miraculously purchased in the heat of the depression. The first enrollment was 30 students. At that time, the school was called "Florida Bible Institute."

Bottom: Temple Terrace campus.

For ten years, the school of Temple Terrace grew. One of Trinity's most famous graduates, Billy Graham, attended during this time. When World War II erupted, the government claimed the property for wartime purposes, and the college was forced to relocate in St. Petersburg, using the facilities of the Gospel Tabernacle. In 1951, God made growth possible once again by the purchasing of the famed Belview Country Club in Belleair, facing Clearwater Bay. Once a gambling center for millionaires, these facilities were converted to Christian service. Florida Bible Institute became Trinity Bible College when a four year degree program was offered.

WELL DONE THOU GOOD AND FAITHFUL SERVANT

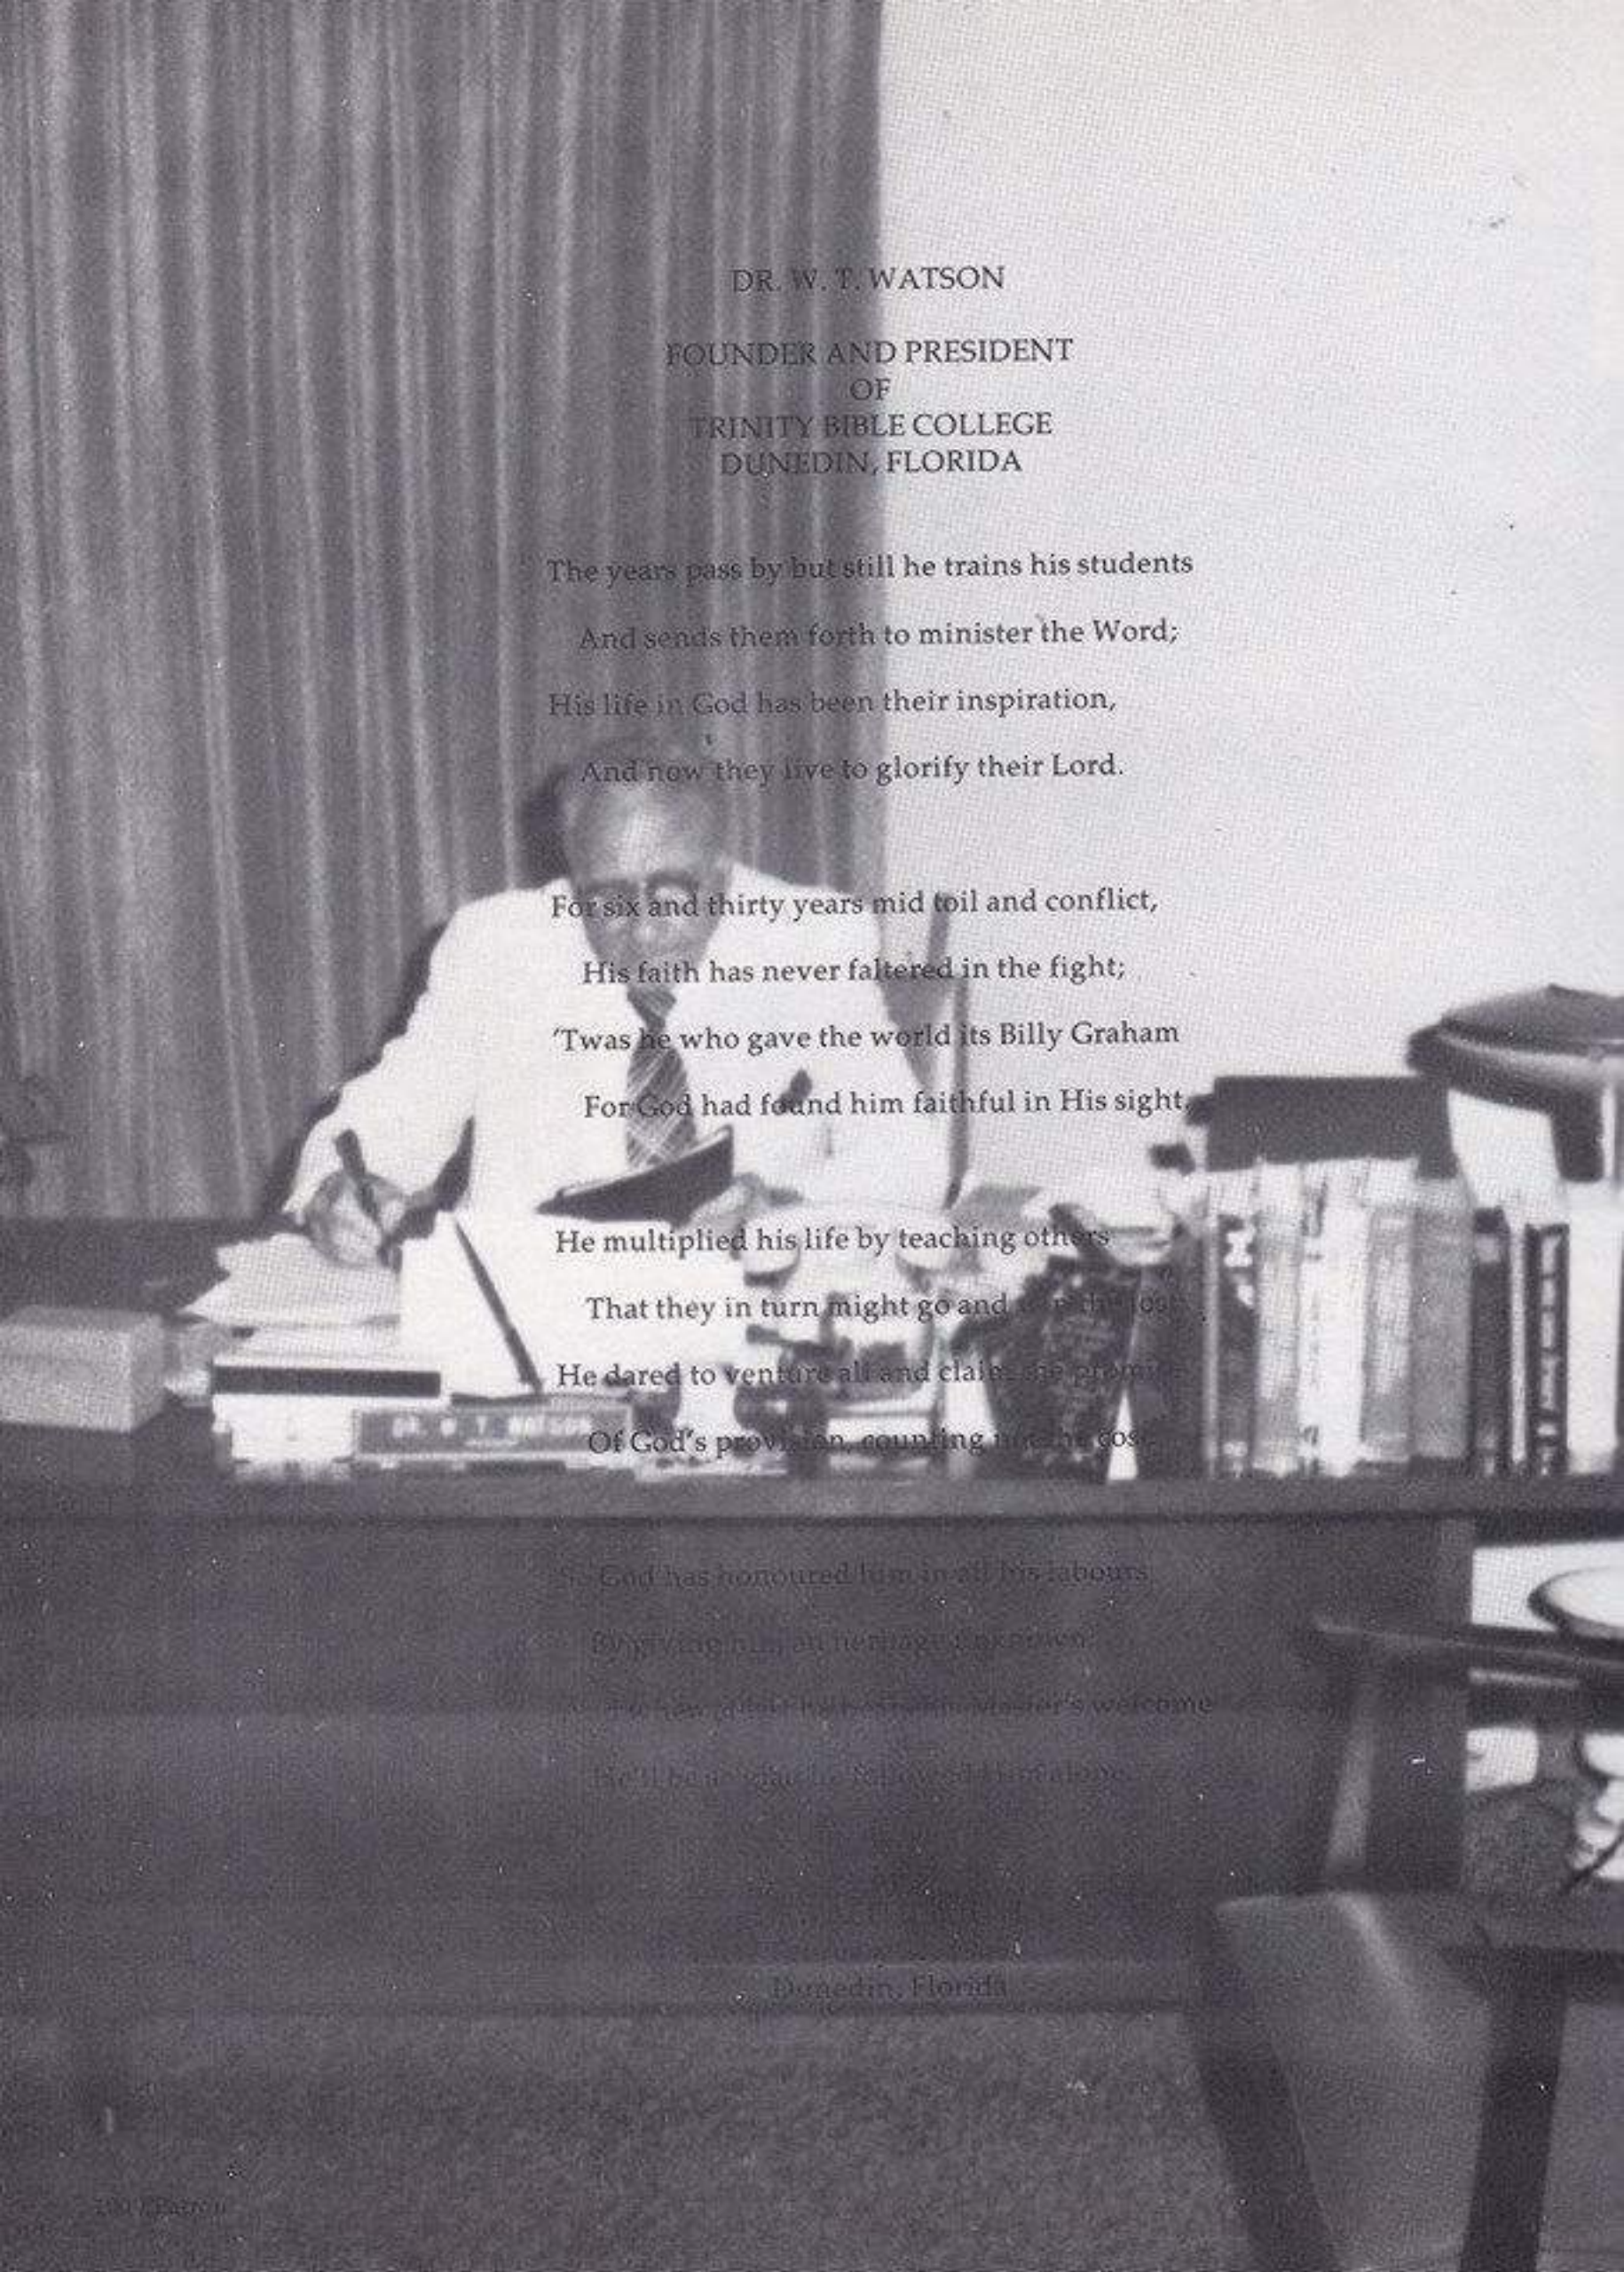

In 1960, another great miracle in faith took place. The Fenway Hotel, a winter home for millionaires in Dunedin, Florida was purchased with a $500 down payment. Dr. Watson was able once again to expand his vision of a Bible College and conference grounds combined. This campus of seven acres was fully developed, and an adjoining Clearwater campus was added to the complex. In July of 1980, Dr. Watson became seriously ill but continued with increasing fervor to preach and exhort young people to "preach Jesus." His tremendous will to work for the Lord literally sustained his physical life until the Lord welcomed him Home on June 5th, 1981. Today, after fifty years, Trinity continues to carry on the principles of Christian education formed by Dr. W. T. Watson, training young people for practical Christian service.

FOUNDER AND PRESIDENT
OF
TRINITY BIBLE COLLEGE
DUNEDIN, FLORIDA

The years pass by but still he trains his students
And sends them forth to minister the Word;
His life in God has been their inspiration,
And now they live to glorify their Lord.

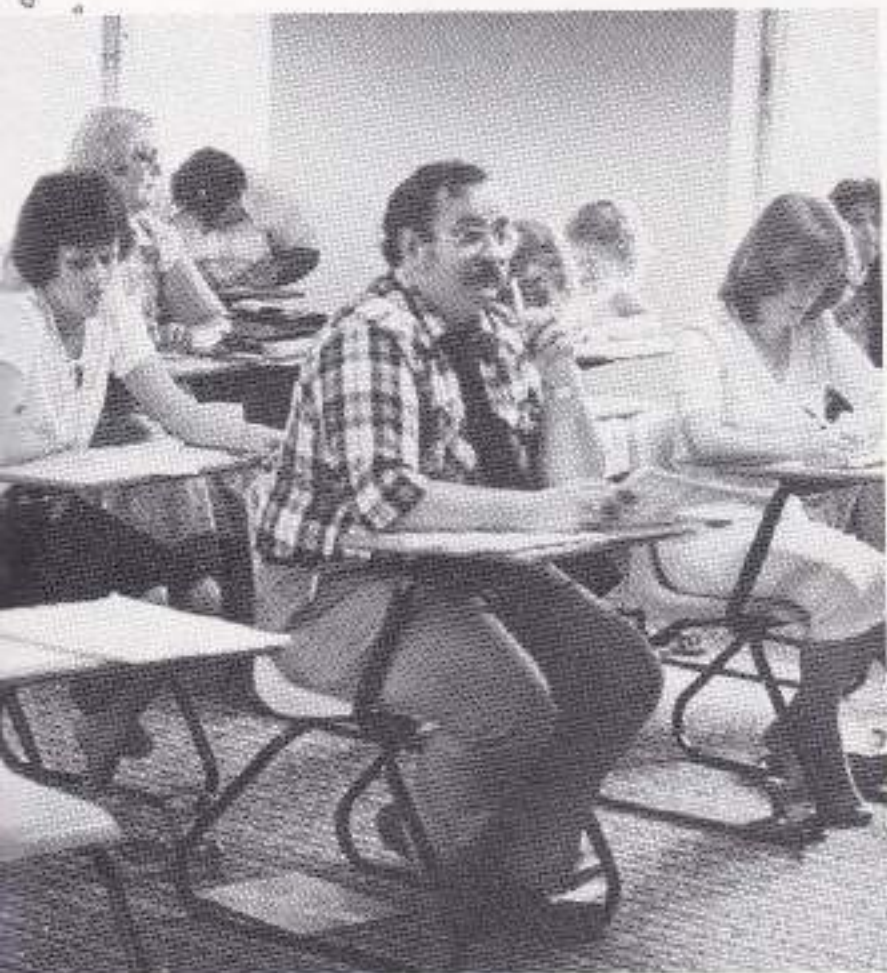

For six and thirty years mid toil and conflict,
His faith has never faltered in the fight;
'Twas he who gave the world its Billy Graham
For God had found him faithful in His sight.

He multiplied his life by teaching others
That they in turn might go and do the job;
He dared to venture all and claim the promise
Of God's provision, counting it no cost.

So God has honoured him in all his labours
By giving him an heritage of renown;
And now, dear friends, his warm and tender welcome
He'll be glad to show to all of you.

GENESIS YEARBOOK STAFF FORMS

Preparing a 50th anniversary annual was a big challenge to a relatively inexperienced yearbook staff. Learning new terms, drawing creative layouts, cropping pictures and submitting to severe editing of copy were just some of the processes involved in shaping the Genesis Yearbook.

1981-1982 held special meaning for all of the yearbook staff because this was the year of "Jubilee" a time to celebrate 50 years of uninterrupted Bible based education. It was appropriate and opportune that this year's General Editor was Bill Watson, grandson of the late W. T. Watson, founder of Trinity Bible College.
